ParentsNext is funded by the Australian Government
Department of Employment.

UnitingSA acknowledges the traditional owners of country throughout South Australia, their spiritual heritage, living culture and our walk together towards reconciliation.

Our ParentsNext Project helps parents prepare to join or re-enter the paid workforce by the time their youngest child starts school.

What is ParentsNext?

We understand that juggling parenthood and employment is challenging for many families. Through ParentsNext we support parents to:

- Identify their education and employment goals
- Develop a pathway to achieving their goals
- Combine preparing for work with their parenting responsibilities
- Access services in the community

We can also help parents:

- Increase their educational qualifications
- Identify and address barriers to employment
- Develop practical skills to get a job
- Access child care assistance

Who can we help?

To be eligible parents must:

- Have a child aged under six
- Have had no paid employment for six months
- Live in the City of Playford

Parents who are required to participate as a condition of receiving the Parenting Payment will be contacted by the Department of Human Services. Parents may also participate on a voluntary basis if they meet the eligibility criteria.
